Perpetual Diversified Income Active ETF (ASX: DIFF)

About the Fund

The Perpetual Diversified Income Active ETF (ASX:DIFF) is a unit class in the Perpetual Diversified Income Fund and is quoted and traded on the ASX as an Active Exchange Traded Fund (Active ETF).

When investing in debt, avoiding loss or default is critical. Perpetual's analysts seek to limit risks by applying quality filters to issuers and selecting those issuers and securities we consider to have (where relevant) a market leading position, stable balance sheets, predictable cashflows, quality and capable management and low susceptibility to regulatory or event risk. As a result, the Perpetual Diversified Income Fund invests in a range of quality debt securities across a variety of sectors and maturities, aiming to deliver regular income with the potential for returns above the Bloomberg AusBond Bank Bill Index (before fees and taxes).

Fund design

The Perpetual Diversified Income Fund is designed for investors who are seeking regular income and potential for consistent returns above the Bloomberg AusBond Bank Bill Index (before fees and taxes) through investment in a diverse range of income generating assets, have a minimum investment timeframe of three years or longer, and are comfortable with the risks associated with the Fund. The Fund has a risk level of Low to Medium*.

What are the risks?

All investments carry risk (such as market and economic risk and asset risk) and different strategies may carry different levels of risk.

The relevant product disclosure statement or offering document for a fund outlines the significant risks that may affect your investment, and should be considered before deciding whether to acquire or hold units in that fund. Your financial adviser can assist you in determining whether a fund is suited to your financial needs.

* As represented by the Standard Risk Measure (SRM). The SRM is based on industry guidance and is not a complete assessment of all forms of investment risk.
